

FAST TIMES '80s Music played at our company's Holiday Party December 18th, 2004.

In the past, this annual event was not well attended and actually not much fun. We would usually have a DJ playing top 40, classic rock, dance songs and some requests. People would end up leaving early and thinking that it was a waste of a Saturday night during a busy time of the year.

This year, we decided to step things up a notch and instead have live entertainment, and the idea of having a '80s cover band at the party sounded like a great idea. Everyone in the office wanted music of this genre because it is so popular these days. In fact, during the week before the date of the party, people were actually getting psyched about coming.

We absolutely made the right choice!

FAST TIMES played all the great hits of the '80s. Dance, rap, pop, hard stuff - there wasn't a single song that the crowd didn't love and get into. Everyone was dancing and having a great time - we couldn't believe it because all the Holiday Parties in the past were such a drag. The night was a success, and as the party coordinator, I got a lot of praise for making it such a great time.

I would recommend FAST TIMES to anyone planning a company party and wanting a great time.

Sincerely,
